

Not a Spot
on Earth So Pleasant

Wm. B. Bradbury
(1816-1868)

William Batchelder Bradbury (1816-1868) was born in York, Maine, where his father was the leader of a church choir. He spent much time as a child studying music on his own. The family moved to Boston and he began organ lessons. He attended singing classes taught by Lowell Mason, was admitted to Mason's Bowdin Street church choir, and quickly became known as an organist. With Mason's help, he taught a singing school in Machias, Maine. He lived in St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada, returned to Boston, then went to Brooklyn, New York City, as organist at the First Baptist Church. He became organist at the Baptist Tabernacle in NYC and began teaching singing classes. He went to London and Germany, where he studied harmony, composition, and vocal and instrumental music with prominent teachers of the time. Returning to New York, he devoted his time to teaching, conducting conventions, composing, and editing music books. With his brother, Edward G. Bradbury, he started the Bradbury Piano Company. He died in Montclair, New Jersey. He was the author and compiler of fifty-nine books and wrote many hymns and Sunday school songs. His church songs were models for many song writers that followed. In 1862, he wrote the music to the poem "Jesus Loves Me" and added the chorus: "Yes, Jesus loves me, Yes, Jesus Loves me."

Not a spot on earth so pleasant
As the place in which I dwell;
O'er the way a maiden liveth,
Fairer far than words can tell,
When at morn the watch I'm keeping,
Those mild beams of light to greet,
Thro' the lattice, slyly peeping,
Two bright morning stars I greet.

Even when the clouds hang o'er us,
And obscure the sun's clear beams;
These light orbs are ever glowing,
As they thro' the lattice gleam,
Thro' my heart warm rays are darting,
When from yonder cot they stream,
Then, O then, no spot so pleasant
As the place in which I dwell.
