George W. Fields (1852-1928) was born in Crawfordsville, Indiana, and established a strong reputation as a music teacher in the state. He moved west and held music normal schools and singing schools in Kansas and Iowa. He settled in Shenandoah, Iowa. There he taught music, travelling throughout the region, and operated a music publishing business. His most widely distributed publication was the class book the "Song Eureka." He died in in Shenandoah, Iowa. His compositions were tailored for music instruction.

Kind friends, we now come to the close
Our evenings work is done,
May you know naught but sweet repose,
Goodnight to every one.
Good-night, good-night,
Until the morning light,
Good-night, good-night,
Good-night, good friends, good-night.

Good-night to all until again
We meet in splendor bright,
May God be with you all till then,
Good-night, kind friends, good-night.
Good-night, good-night,
Until the morning light,
Good-night, good-night,
Good-night, good friends, good-night.

TERMS OF USE

These editions are available as a service to the choral community, offering inexpensive access to public domain literature. Choir resources can purchase other literature still under copyright, especially to support those creating and publishing new compositions and arrangements. These editions have been created using public domain sources under U. S. copyright law. Out of respect to the research, time and effort invested:

please print and issue an edition in its entirety, retaining notices, attributions, and logos.

please do not consider this edition a source for creating another edition.

If performed, sending a copy of the concert program would be a valuable affirmation. If recorded, notification and attribution would be appropriate professional courtesies and a copy of the recording would be greatly appreciated!
