

The Violet

Henry Leslie
(1822-1896)

Henry David Leslie (1822-1896) was born in London, England. He studied the cello as a youth, later playing in the Sacred Harmonic Society. In 1855, he organized an a cappella singing society. The society grew to 200 voices and became known as "Henry Leslie's Choir." The choir won numerous international competition prizes and enjoyed a strong reputation for singing unaccompanied music, both ancient and modern. He also became conductor of the Guild of Amateur Musicians. In 1864, Leslie established a National College of Music, but the college survived only two years. In 1878, Leslie and others made another attempt to form a national music school. This effort was successful, becoming the predecessor of the Royal College of Music. After he retired, he founded the Oswestry School of Music and its Festival of Village Choirs. Throughout his life, he was a champion of amateur choral musicians. He composed symphonies, oratorios, sacred works as well as chamber music, piano music and many part-songs.

Gentle daughter of the year,
Violet! fairest gem of spring,
Blooming by the streamlet clear,
Fann'd by Zephyr's balmy wing.

Violet! Violet! thy leaves unclose,
Waft thy sweets in dewy air,
Though we prize the blushing rose,
Thou art still beyond compare.

Why unheeded waste thy day
Violet! brief is beauty's transient hour,
Cruel time brooks no delay
To be wooed be thine lone flower.

Violet! Violet! so gently sweet.
Haste thy treasures to impart.
From thy cool and loved retreat,
Glad the eye and cheer the heart.

Lowly Herald of the Spring!
Violet! from thy fairy circled shrine,
Come on incense breathing wing,
Ere thy fleeting charms decline.

Welcome then the noontide ray.
Drink with joy the golden light,
Beams unfold and pass away
Darker grows the coming night.

Violet! Lowly Herald of the Spring.

Eliza Pudsey Freake (1822-1900)
Wife of Sir Charles James Freake (1814-1884)

TERMS OF USE

These editions are available as a service to the choral community, offering inexpensive access to public domain literature. Choir resources can purchase other literature still under copyright, especially to support those creating and publishing new compositions and arrangements. These editions have been created using public domain sources under U. S. copyright law. Out of respect to the research, time and effort invested:

- please print and issue an edition in its entirety, retaining notices, attributions, and logos.
- please do not consider this edition a source for creating another edition.

If performed, sending a copy of the concert program would be a valuable affirmation. If recorded, notification and attribution would be appropriate professional courtesies and a copy of the recording would be greatly appreciated!
