Mason Brothers
(1867)

George Brace Loomis (1833-1887) was born in Bennington, New York. He was educated at the local academy and travelled to New York City to study music with Lowell Mason. He taught music in Providence, Rhode Island, then in Wooster, Ohio. With the recommendation by Lowell Mason, he was hired as the superintendent of music teaching for the public schools at Indianapolis, Indiana. He was the first president of the Indiana Music Teachers' Association and was a member of all the leading musical organizations in Indianapolis, eventually conducting the Choral Union and was musical director of the Harmonic Society. He was also an active member of the choir at the First Baptist Church. He died in Indianapolis of typhoid fever. An advocate of the East Coast concept of systematic instruction in music in the public schools, he initiated that practice in Indianapolis. He wrote and compiled a number of volumes for music education including "Progressive Music Lessons" and "The Progressive Glee and Chorus Book." His publications were widely used in Indiana and surrounding states. George B. Loomis Elementary School in Indianapolis is named after him.

Poem as it appears in this setting by Loomis:

In the old church tower hangs the bell,
And above it, on the vane,
In the sunshine and the rain,
Cut in gold, Saint Peter stands,
With the keys in his two hands,
And all is well.

From the old church tower rings the bell,
Ringing grave and ringing gay,
Ringing night and ringing day,
Ringing tidings unto all,
As it evermore doth say,
That all is well.

Alternate version as it appears in other publications:

In the old church tower hangs the bell,
And above it, on the vane,
In the sunshine and the rain,
Cut in gold, Saint Peter stands,
With the keys in his two hands,
And all is well.

In the old church tower hangs the bell,
You can hear its great heart beat,
Ah! So loud and wild and sweet,
As the parson says a prayer,
O'er the happy lovers there,
Where all is well.

In the old church tower hangs the bell,
Deep and solemn, hark! again,
Ah! What passion and what pain!
With her hands upon her breast,
Some poor soul has gone to rest,
Where all is well.

In the old church tower hangs the bell,
A quaint friend that seems to know
All our joy, and all our woe,
It is glad when we are wed,
It is sad, when we are dead,
And all is well.

TERMS OF USE

These editions are available as a service to the choral community, offering inexpensive access to public domain literature. Choir resources can purchase other literature still under copyright, especially to support those creating and publishing new compositions and arrangements. These editions have been created using public domain sources under U. S. copyright law. Out of respect to the research, time and effort invested:

- please print and issue an edition in its entirety, retaining notices, attributions, and logos.
- please do not consider this edition a source for creating another edition.

If performed, sending a copy of the concert program would be a valuable affirmation. If recorded, notification and attribution would be appropriate professional courtesies and a copy of the recording would be greatly appreciated!
