

Winter's Reign is Over

Wm. F. Sherwin
(1826-1888)

William Fiske Sherwin (1826-1888) was born in Buckland, Massachusetts. Although he had little schooling as a child, at age 15 he went to Boston and studied music under Lowell Mason. He became a teacher of vocal music, and held appointments at the New England Conservatory of Music; in Hudson and Albany, New York; and in New York City. An American Baptist, he was the first music director at the Chautauqua Movement near Chautauqua, New York. He composed carols and hymn-tunes for use in in Sunday Schools, and helped prepare popular Sunday School hymn and tune books. He also was musical editor at Biglow & Main publishers. He died in Boston, Massachusetts.

Winter's cruel reign is over,
Vernal airs blow soft again;
Blackbird, skylark, thrush and plover,
Join and swell this merry strain.

Messengers of spring are flying,
Far from regions o'er the sea;
Voice to voice the welcome crying,
Raise the song of tuneful glee.

Sheep and kins their stalls forsaking,
Snuff with joy the breath of spring;
While the voice of joy awaking
Makes the echoing woodlands ring.
