

Come Down in the Meadows

S. W. Straub
(1842-1899)

Solomon W. Straub (1842-1899) was born in De Kalb County, Indiana, residing much of his career in Woodlawn Park, a Chicago suburb. He made music his life's work; he was active in music education and conducted musical conventions throughout the central Midwest. He authored many singing school books, Sunday School music books, choir and anthem books, and sheet music. He founded "Song Friend," a musical periodical, and owned and operated a music publishing company in Chicago. His sister Maria Straub, who was a poet and wrote many hymn texts, wrote many secular texts used in his songs. Both were active in the temperance movement and wrote works for the movement's use. He died in Chicago, Illinois.

Come down in the meadow this morning in Summer,
And gather sweet blossoms abloom by the way,
And hear in the woodlands the brown partridge drummer
Beat up his brown soldiers to drill for the day.

*O sing in the morning a song that I love,
A song that is sweet as the lark's above.*

The air is astir with a jubilant chorus,
The fields and the woodlands are bright as a smile;
The sky bends so tenderly, lovingly o'er us,
With clouds o'er the hills like gray soldiers in file.

How happy the winds are above and about us!
They laugh out like children in innocent glee;
Let the world and its sorrows go onward without us,
Oh, Summer, the Summer for you and for me.

Eben Eugene Rexford (1848-1916)
