Thomas Adams (1857-1918) was a pupil of Sir Frederick Bridge. He taught at Bishop Stortford Grammar School and was organist at the Parish Church of Saint Alban the Martyr in Holborn (London) from 1888 until his death in 1918. He was a prolific composer of hymns, anthems, oratorios and organ music.

Between the sunrise and the sunset
The road winds o'er the hill,
It is not long, nor very steep for climbing
When the wind is still.

Between the sowing and the reaping
The clouds are gold above,
It is not sad, our day of stress and toiling,
If its light is Love.

Between the sunset and the dawning
The grey lies o'er the blue,
It is not dark, nor very long for sleeping,
If our lives are true.

TERMS OF USE

These editions are available as a service to the choral community, offering inexpensive access to public domain literature. Choir resources can purchase other literature still under copyright, especially to support those creating and publishing new compositions and arrangements. These editions have been created using public domain sources under U. S. copyright law. Out of respect to the research, time and effort invested:

please print and issue an edition in its entirety, retaining notices, attributions, and logos.
please do not consider this edition a source for creating another edition.

If performed, sending a copy of the concert program would be a valuable affirmation. If recorded, notification and attribution would be appropriate professional courtesies and a copy of the recording would be greatly appreciated!
