J. Curwen & Sons
(1898)

Robert Fairlamb Reah (1854-1913) was born in South Shields, Durham, England, and graduated from Trinity College, London. He returned to South Shields and became a tallow chandler. He was a supporter of education, serving as a member of the School Board and was Vice-Chairman of the Education Committee. He was an amateur musician, active in John Curwen's Tonic Sol-Fa movement. He composed a few part-songs.

Out of the wild and stormy north,
Again the Winter King rides forth,
Again he leaves his icebound home,
With all his marshaled hosts to roam,
While storm-winds roar and oceans foam.

Behold his scouts, how fast they fly,
The clouds that scour the darkening sky,
And while o'er all it blackness throws,
See how his frown more threatening grows,
With ev'ry blast that Boreas blows.

Behold the fire gleam in his eye!
Hark! to his armies rolling by!
Hear now, from towering crag and steep,
Do mighty torrents roaring leap,
Hear storm winds rage and wild waves sweep.

TERMS OF USE

These editions are available as a service to the choral community, offering inexpensive access to public domain literature. Choir resources can purchase other literature still under copyright, especially to support those creating and publishing new compositions and arrangements. These editions have been created using public domain sources under U. S. copyright law. Out of respect to the research, time and effort invested:

- please print and issue an edition in its entirety, retaining notices, attributions, and logos.
- please do not consider this edition a source for creating another edition.

If performed, sending a copy of the concert program would be a valuable affirmation. If recorded, notification and attribution would be appropriate professional courtesies and a copy of the recording would be greatly appreciated!
