Root & Cady
(1869)

William James Robjohn (1843-1920) was born in Tavistock, Devon, England, and moved to New York with his family when young. He showed his talent as a youth becoming the first boy soloist at Trinity Church in New York City. He was mostly a self-taught musician and went on to sing on the stage as a touring actor. He was often known under the pseudonym Caryl Florio. During his active and diverse musical career, he was organist and choirmaster at Trinity Church, Newport; Zion Church, New York; Mount Cavalry Church, Baltimore, Maryland; and All Souls' Church, Biltmore, North Carolina. He was opera conductor in Havana and at the New York Academy of Music. He was music director at the Baptist Female Institute in Indianapolis, Indiana, and at Wells College in Aurora, New York. He was conductor of the Vocal Society, the Amicitia Orchestra, and the Palestrina Choir in New York and director of the Choral Society in Asheville, North Carolina. For many years, he was in charge of music at the Vanderbilt estate in Ashville. He died in Morganton, North Carolina. He was successful as a conductor, composer, actor, music critic, performer and accompanist. His significant compositional output includes hymns, songs, part-songs, chamber music, a piano concerto, a light opera, at least two grand operas and two symphonies.

Rocking with the passing tide,
Our boat with calm and silent pace,
Thro' the waters soft doth glide,
As we our happy voices raise.

*Sing, merry comrades, sing,
Let your voices ring;
Hearts are gay and faces bright,
And sparkling eyes are filled with light;
We all with merry heart
Bear our tuneful part.*

See the cities gliding by,
The sun is slowly passing down;
Stars besprinkle now the sky,
And lights gleam out from every town.

While our journey lasts shall we,
While oars dip steadily and slow,
Keep from strife; and joy and glee
Shall ever make the moments go.

TERMS OF USE

These editions are available as a service to the choral community, offering inexpensive access to public domain literature. Choir resources can purchase other literature still under copyright, especially to support those creating and publishing new compositions and arrangements. These editions have been created using public domain sources under U. S. copyright law. Out of respect to the research, time and effort invested:

please print and issue an edition in its entirety, retaining notices, attributions, and logos.
please do not consider this edition a source for creating another edition.

If performed, sending a copy of the concert program would be a valuable affirmation. If recorded, notification and attribution would be appropriate professional courtesies and a copy of the recording would be greatly appreciated!
