Dost thou idly ask

Henry Smart

Allegretto $\text{♩} = 132$

The musical score consists of four staves, each representing a vocal part: Soprano (S), Alto (A), Tenor (T), and Bass (B). The key signature is one flat, and the time signature is common time. The tempo is Allegretto, indicated by a note value of $\text{♩} = 132$. The vocal parts sing a repeating phrase: "Dost thou i - dly ask to hear ____ At what gen - tle sea - sons". The bass part (B) has a longer note value than the others in this section.

The musical score continues with the same four vocal parts (Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass). The key signature changes to no sharps or flats. The vocal parts sing a repeating phrase: "Nymphs re - lent, when lov - ers near Press the ten - d'rest rea - sons?". The bass part (B) has a longer note value than the others in this section. Dynamic markings include crescendos and decrescendos.

Novello, Ewer and Co.
(1860-1885)

Henry Thomas Smart (1813-1879) was born in London, son of a music publisher, orchestra director and violinist. He declined a commission in the Indian army and planned to work in law, but he gave it up for a musical career. He was organist of Blackburn parish church; St. Giles-without-Cripplegate; St. Luke's, Old Street; and finally of St. Pancras New Church. He was the music editor for Psalms and Hymns for Divine Worship (1867), the Presbyterian Hymnal (1875), and the hymn book of the United Presbyterian Church of Scotland. He was a recognized authority on organs and designed many instruments, including those in the City Hall and St. Andrew's Hall in Glasgow, Scotland, and the Town Hall in Leeds. Smart was highly rated as a composer by his contemporaries, especially his organ works and part-songs. His best-known compositions are now probably the hymn tune "Regent Square", commonly sung with the words "Christ Is Made the Sure Foundation" and "Angels from the Realms of Glory". In the last fifteen years of his life Smart was practically blind. He composed by dictation, primarily to his daughter.

Dost thou idly ask to hear
At what gentle seasons
Nymphs relent, when lovers near
Press the tenderest reasons?
Ah! they give their faith too oft
To the careless wooer;
Maidens' hearts are always soft:
Would that men's were truer!

Woo the fair one, when around
Early birds are singing;
When o'er all the fragrant ground,
Early herbs are springing;
When the brookside, bank, and grove,
All with blossoms laden,
Shine with beauty, Breathe of love—
Woo the timid maiden

Woo her, when the north winds call
At the lattice nightly;
When, within the cheerful hall,
Blaze the faggots brightly;
While the wintry tempest round
Sweeps the landscape hoary,
Sweeter in her ear shall sound
Love's delightful story.
